

Everyone knows solid wood floors look the business, so if you need one for your compact and bijou flat in Kensington or perhaps, an industrial-chic living space in a newly gentrified (i.e. formerly dirty and violent) part of pretty much any city in the UK, A & P Webb can certainly oblige.

This flash/XHTML hybrid site offers a portfolio of finished floors and a samples viewer so that prospective clients can quickly browse through their somewhat extensive range of finishes. If you like what you see, why not give them a call.