

Specialising in the recruitment of city / financial types in the Investment Banking, Asset Management and Global Custody sectors, Wallstreet needed an updated logo and website that their clients could relate to and that emphasised their standing as a serious player in their marketplace. Fortunately for them, they contacted us and we duly went about ensuring that their requirements were met and just for good measure, surpassed, in smart, corporate style.

The backend CMS enables their consultants to organise vacancies, candidates and clients from any location at any time, as well as populating the vacancy section of their website and offering online candidate registration. We could go on, but we won't.
